With over 30 years of public service, you have a unique range of professional experiences. Being the son of a police chief, inspired you to become a sworn police officer, serving honorably for 23 years. While you worked as an officer, you pursued your passion for law, attending night classes to become a practicing attorney. We were impressed that since you retired from law enforcement in 2017 you have represented clients in various legal matters and taught both constitutional and criminal law.
